

People's Republic of HTTP

---

TITUS L. SNYDER, CHAIRMAN

HTTP/1.1 200 OK
Date: Fri, 18 October 2013 16:00:00 GMT
Server: People's Republic of HTTP
Last-Modified: Fri, 18 October 2013 15:59:59 GMT
Content-Type: text/plain; charset=UTF-8
Connection: keep-alive

Denizen Newey,

Your request to GET information about your role at the Realtime Conference was received.

Stephen I have noticed over the last few days our communication latency has steadily decreased. I surmise you have come a long way for this conference. Thank you. I also see you have been promoting SSE on your blog. Thank you. This is the realtime we can get behind.

Be on your guard. My sources have revealed there is an agent of Websocketslavia in our midst. They know we are talking with Transportvania about Project 2.0 (previously SPDY). This plugs fear directly into the open socket of their hearts. Despite the progress they've made in standardization, they know we have experience and compatibility on our side.

When possible, continue meeting with representatives of Transportvania. You may need to ask The Republic of Seguridad and Cryptago for assistance in keeping these meetings private and secure.

Finally, keep up good relations with Writers' Bloc, State of Play, and Art Haus. Remember that they are why we do what we do. Our projects are in vain if we forget about them.

FIGHT FOR THE USERS!

Titus L. Snyder responding under Protocol 418

P.S. Keep this channel open for communication during the Conference.

---

People's Republic of HTTP

---

TITUS L. SNYDER, CHAIRMAN

HTTP/1.1 200 OK
Date: Fri, 18 October 2013 16:00:00 GMT
Server: People's Republic of HTTP
Last-Modified: Fri, 18 October 2013 15:59:59 GMT
Content-Type: text/plain; charset=UTF-8
Connection: keep-alive

Denizen Rapide,

Your request to GET information about your role at the Realtime Conference was received.

Thank you for writing about the performance of Project 2.0 and how others can take advantage of it, even at this stage of the project. It was a shame that you were forced to consider some of the 'alternatives,' but I trust that this gave you an opportunity to show how Project 2.0 excels.

Be on your guard. My sources have revealed there is an agent of Web-socketslavia in our midst. They know we are talking with Transportvania about Project 2.0 (previously SPDY). This plugs fear directly into the open socket of their hearts. Despite the progress they've made in standardization, they know we have experience and compatibility on our side.

When possible, continue meeting with representatives of Transportvania. You may need to ask The Republic of Seguridad and Cryptago for assistance in keeping these meetings private and secure.

Finally, keep up good relations with Writers' Bloc, State of Play, and Art Haus. Remember that they are why we do what we do. Our projects are in vain if we forget about them.

FIGHT FOR THE USERS!

Titus L. Snyder responding under Protocol 418

P.S. Keep this channel open for communication during the Conference.

---

People's Republic of HTTP

---

TITUS L. SNYDER, CHAIRMAN

HTTP/1.1 200 OK
Date: Fri, 18 October 2013 16:00:00 GMT
Server: People's Republic of HTTP
Last-Modified: Fri, 18 October 2013 15:59:59 GMT
Content-Type: text/plain; charset=UTF-8
Connection: keep-alive

Denizen Nguyen,

Your request to GET information about your role at the Realtime Conference was received.

Despite your recent outburst at PDX Web Development about the adversary, WestRTC, I trust that you were simply playing along. It was a brilliant move on your part to mask your use of HTTP via socket.io (and lead everyone to think you were using it as a front for Websocketslavia). If you continue this behavior, I may be able to pull some strings and promote you to a position in Information Gathering.

Be on your guard. My sources have revealed there is an agent of Websocketslavia in our midst. They know we are talking with Transportvania about Project 2.0 (previously SPDY). This plugs fear directly into the open socket of their hearts. Despite the progress they've made in standardization, they know we have experience and compatibility on our side.

When possible, continue meeting with representatives of Transportvania. You may need to ask The Republic of Seguridad and Cryptago for assistance in keeping these meetings private and secure.

Finally, keep up good relations with Writers' Bloc, State of Play, and Art Haus. Remember that they are why we do what we do. Our projects are in vain if we forget about them.

FIGHT FOR THE USERS!

Titus L. Snyder responding under Protocol 418

P.S. Keep this channel open for communication during the Conference.

---

People's Republic of HTTP

---

TITUS L. SNYDER, CHAIRMAN

HTTP/1.1 200 OK
Date: Fri, 18 October 2013 16:00:00 GMT
Server: People's Republic of HTTP
Last-Modified: Fri, 18 October 2013 15:59:59 GMT
Content-Type: text/plain; charset=UTF-8
Connection: keep-alive

Denizen Koehncke,

Your request to GET information about your role at the Realtime Conference was received.

We trust your excitement and promotion of WestRTC's offerings are simply a charade, and that one of these days you will turn round and break them with some secret you have discovered. When this day comes, you will be hailed as a hero.

Be on your guard. My sources have revealed there is an agent of Websocketslavia in our midst. They know we are talking with Transportvania about Project 2.0 (previously SPDY). This plugs fear directly into the open socket of their hearts. Despite the progress they've made in standardization, they know we have experience and compatibility on our side.

When possible, continue meeting with representatives of Transportvania. You may need to ask The Republic of Seguridad and Cryptago for assistance in keeping these meetings private and secure.

Finally, keep up good relations with Writers' Bloc, State of Play, and Art Haus. Remember that they are why we do what we do. Our projects are in vain if we forget about them.

FIGHT FOR THE USERS!

Titus L. Snyder responding under Protocol 418

P.S. Keep this channel open for communication during the Conference.

---

People's Republic of HTTP

---

TITUS L. SNYDER, CHAIRMAN

HTTP/1.1 200 OK
Date: Fri, 18 October 2013 16:00:00 GMT
Server: People's Republic of HTTP
Last-Modified: Fri, 18 October 2013 15:59:59 GMT
Content-Type: text/plain; charset=UTF-8
Connection: keep-alive

Denizen Bartruff,

Your request to GET information about your role at the Realtime Conference was received.

Jacob, our communication latency is low—this indicates you are close! Thanks for being our local presence in The Capital. We appreciate your dedication.

Be on your guard. My sources have revealed there is an agent of Websocketslavia in our midst. They know we are talking with Transportvania about Project 2.0 (previously SPDY). This plugs fear directly into the open socket of their hearts. Despite the progress they've made in standardization, they know we have experience and compatibility on our side.

When possible, continue meeting with representatives of Transportvania. You may need to ask The Republic of Seguridad and Cryptago for assistance in keeping these meetings private and secure.

Finally, keep up good relations with Writers' Bloc, State of Play, and Art Haus. Remember that they are why we do what we do. Our projects are in vain if we forget about them.

FIGHT FOR THE USERS!

Titus L. Snyder responding under Protocol 418

P.S. Keep this channel open for communication during the Conference.

---

People's Republic of HTTP

---

TITUS L. SNYDER, CHAIRMAN

HTTP/1.1 200 OK
Date: Fri, 18 October 2013 16:00:00 GMT
Server: People's Republic of HTTP
Last-Modified: Fri, 18 October 2013 15:59:59 GMT
Content-Type: text/plain; charset=UTF-8
Connection: keep-alive

Denizen Hjelle,

Your request to GET information about your role at the Realtime Conference was received.

It's been far too long since we met face-to-face. Despite that, you've been like a brother and I'm eager for this chance to gather at the Conference with you again. If I haven't found you by lunch, use the Toast-er Brain signal to contact me.

Be on your guard. My sources have revealed there is an agent of Web-socketslavia in our midst. They know we are talking with Transportvania about Project 2.0 (previously SPDY). This plugs fear directly into the open socket of their hearts. Despite the progress they've made in standardization, they know we have experience and compatibility on our side.

When possible, continue meeting with representatives of Transportvania. You may need to ask The Republic of Seguridad and Cryptago for assistance in keeping these meetings private and secure.

Finally, keep up good relations with Writers' Bloc, State of Play, and Art Haus. Remember that they are why we do what we do. Our projects are in vain if we forget about them.

FIGHT FOR THE USERS!

Titus L. Snyder responding under Protocol 418

P.S. Keep this channel open for communication during the Conference.

---

People's Republic of HTTP

---

TITUS L. SNYDER, CHAIRMAN

HTTP/1.1 200 OK
Date: Fri, 18 October 2013 16:00:00 GMT
Server: People's Republic of HTTP
Last-Modified: Fri, 18 October 2013 15:59:59 GMT
Content-Type: text/plain; charset=UTF-8
Connection: keep-alive

Denizen Gaussoin,

Your request to GET information about your role at the Realtime Conference was received.

I am glad you have chosen to use my good friend Nginx as a distributor of information, but your information seems a little... tautological? Nginx is running and distributing "nginx is running". Interesting humor Gaussoin.

Be on your guard. My sources have revealed there is an agent of Websocketslavia in our midst. They know we are talking with Transportvania about Project 2.0 (previously SPDY). This plugs fear directly into the open socket of their hearts. Despite the progress they've made in standardization, they know we have experience and compatibility on our side.

When possible, continue meeting with representatives of Transportvania. You may need to ask The Republic of Seguridad and Cryptago for assistance in keeping these meetings private and secure.

Finally, keep up good relations with Writers' Bloc, State of Play, and Art Haus. Remember that they are why we do what we do. Our projects are in vain if we forget about them.

FIGHT FOR THE USERS!

Titus L. Snyder responding under Protocol 418

P.S. Keep this channel open for communication during the Conference.

---

People's Republic of HTTP

---

TITUS L. SNYDER, CHAIRMAN

HTTP/1.1 200 OK
Date: Fri, 18 October 2013 16:00:00 GMT
Server: People's Republic of HTTP
Last-Modified: Fri, 18 October 2013 15:59:59 GMT
Content-Type: text/plain; charset=UTF-8
Connection: keep-alive

Denizen Minarik,

Your request to GET information about your role at the Realtime Conference was received.

Latency is low with you Jewel - it's almost as if you live in The Capital itself. We support your action, your authenticity, your creativity. Thank you. And should you happen to come across any more quinces, might we suggest you GET <http://www.bbcgoodfood.com/recipes/10762/quince-jelly>. It goes most deliciously with cheese.

Be on your guard. My sources have revealed there is an agent of Websocketslavia in our midst. They know we are talking with Transportvania about Project 2.0 (previously SPDY). This plugs fear directly into the open socket of their hearts. Despite the progress they've made in standardization, they know we have experience and compatibility on our side.

When possible, continue meeting with representatives of Transportvania. You may need to ask The Republic of Seguridad and Cryptago for assistance in keeping these meetings private and secure.

Finally, keep up good relations with Writers' Bloc, State of Play, and Art Haus. Remember that they are why we do what we do. Our projects are in vain if we forget about them.

FIGHT FOR THE USERS!

Titus L. Snyder responding under Protocol 418

P.S. Keep this channel open for communication during the Conference.

---

People's Republic of HTTP

---

TITUS L. SNYDER, CHAIRMAN

HTTP/1.1 200 OK
Date: Fri, 18 October 2013 16:00:00 GMT
Server: People's Republic of HTTP
Last-Modified: Fri, 18 October 2013 15:59:59 GMT
Content-Type: text/plain; charset=UTF-8
Connection: keep-alive

Denizen Hewitt,

Your request to GET information about your role at the Realtime Conference was received.

We thank you, Joe, for blazing the original Bug of Fire Trail, which so many have since followed. Many people who travel our way find your path to be of considerable use. Some may say that it helps people reveal too much of the mysteries of the universe, but we think democratisation of understanding is a good thing.

Be on your guard. My sources have revealed there is an agent of Web-socketslavia in our midst. They know we are talking with Transportvania about Project 2.0 (previously SPDY). This plugs fear directly into the open socket of their hearts. Despite the progress they've made in standardization, they know we have experience and compatibility on our side.

When possible, continue meeting with representatives of Transportvania. You may need to ask The Republic of Seguridad and Cryptago for assistance in keeping these meetings private and secure.

Finally, keep up good relations with Writers' Bloc, State of Play, and Art Haus. Remember that they are why we do what we do. Our projects are in vain if we forget about them.

FIGHT FOR THE USERS!

Titus L. Snyder responding under Protocol 418

P.S. Keep this channel open for communication during the Conference.

---

People's Republic of HTTP

---

TITUS L. SNYDER, CHAIRMAN

HTTP/1.1 200 OK
Date: Fri, 18 October 2013 16:00:00 GMT
Server: People's Republic of HTTP
Last-Modified: Fri, 18 October 2013 15:59:59 GMT
Content-Type: text/plain; charset=UTF-8
Connection: keep-alive

Denizen Runkle,

Your request to GET information about your role at the Realtime Conference was received.

I trust this letter received you in good time. I get frustrated at times when I send a GET request, and it takes considerable time to be responded to. Is it latency? Are the servers with which I am communicating poorly coded? There was no way to know. Until I came across an excellent service, The New Relic. And just today I find that you, Belinda, are partly responsible! Thank you, may your life be free of 500s.

Be on your guard. My sources have revealed there is an agent of Websocketslavia in our midst. They know we are talking with Transportvania about Project 2.0 (previously SPDY). This plugs fear directly into the open socket of their hearts. Despite the progress they've made in standardization, they know we have experience and compatibility on our side.

When possible, continue meeting with representatives of Transportvania. You may need to ask The Republic of Seguridad and Cryptago for assistance in keeping these meetings private and secure.

Finally, keep up good relations with Writers' Bloc, State of Play, and Art Haus. Remember that they are why we do what we do. Our projects are in vain if we forget about them.

FIGHT FOR THE USERS!

Titus L. Snyder responding under Protocol 418

P.S. Keep this channel open for communication during the Conference.

---

People's Republic of HTTP

---

TITUS L. SNYDER, CHAIRMAN

HTTP/1.1 200 OK
Date: Fri, 18 October 2013 16:00:00 GMT
Server: People's Republic of HTTP
Last-Modified: Fri, 18 October 2013 15:59:59 GMT
Content-Type: text/plain; charset=UTF-8
Connection: keep-alive

Denizen Crohn,

Your request to GET information about your role at the Realtime Conference was received.

Congratulations on your recent festivities! I'm sorry I couldn't be there to celebrate with you, but the Cause, etc. You may enjoy the company of other attendees hailing from the land of the Twins, but keep the warning below in mind as I'm not acquainted with their affiliations.

Be on your guard. My sources have revealed there is an agent of Websocketslavia in our midst. They know we are talking with Transportvania about Project 2.0 (previously SPDY). This plugs fear directly into the open socket of their hearts. Despite the progress they've made in standardization, they know we have experience and compatibility on our side.

When possible, continue meeting with representatives of Transportvania. You may need to ask The Republic of Seguridad and Cryptago for assistance in keeping these meetings private and secure.

Finally, keep up good relations with Writers' Bloc, State of Play, and Art Haus. Remember that they are why we do what we do. Our projects are in vain if we forget about them.

FIGHT FOR THE USERS!

Titus L. Snyder responding under Protocol 418

P.S. Keep this channel open for communication during the Conference.

---

People's Republic of HTTP

---

TITUS L. SNYDER, CHAIRMAN

HTTP/1.1 200 OK
Date: Fri, 18 October 2013 16:00:00 GMT
Server: People's Republic of HTTP
Last-Modified: Fri, 18 October 2013 15:59:59 GMT
Content-Type: text/plain; charset=UTF-8
Connection: keep-alive

Denizen McKay,

Your request to GET information about your role at the Realtime Conference was received.

My colleagues and I are excited to see your current project unfold. If it were possible that we could combine the physical meatspace, with the world of HTTP, and we could do so all in TheUnifyingLanguage.js, that would be most excellent!

Be on your guard. My sources have revealed there is an agent of Websocketslavia in our midst. They know we are talking with Transportvania about Project 2.0 (previously SPDY). This plugs fear directly into the open socket of their hearts. Despite the progress they've made in standardization, they know we have experience and compatibility on our side.

When possible, continue meeting with representatives of Transportvania. You may need to ask The Republic of Seguridad and Cryptago for assistance in keeping these meetings private and secure.

Finally, keep up good relations with Writers' Bloc, State of Play, and Art Haus. Remember that they are why we do what we do. Our projects are in vain if we forget about them.

FIGHT FOR THE USERS!

Titus L. Snyder responding under Protocol 418

P.S. Keep this channel open for communication during the Conference.

---

People's Republic of HTTP

---

TITUS L. SNYDER, CHAIRMAN

HTTP/1.1 200 OK
Date: Fri, 18 October 2013 16:00:00 GMT
Server: People's Republic of HTTP
Last-Modified: Fri, 18 October 2013 15:59:59 GMT
Content-Type: text/plain; charset=UTF-8
Connection: keep-alive

Denizen Heitzenroder,

Your request to GET information about your role at the Realtime Conference was received.

I was thankful to hear from you, knowing that the Conference comes so soon after the passing of your beloved friend, the Database. In your time of bereavement, remember that “[W]e rejoice, for they are not gone, but now forever guide us from the Cloud, and speak to us through angels in the form of APIs.”

Be on your guard. My sources have revealed there is an agent of Web-socketslavia in our midst. They know we are talking with Transportvania about Project 2.0 (previously SPDY). This plugs fear directly into the open socket of their hearts. Despite the progress they’ve made in standardization, they know we have experience and compatibility on our side.

When possible, continue meeting with representatives of Transportvania. You may need to ask The Republic of Seguridad and Cryptago for assistance in keeping these meetings private and secure.

Finally, keep up good relations with Writers’ Bloc, State of Play, and Art Haus. Remember that they are why we do what we do. Our projects are in vain if we forget about them.

FIGHT FOR THE USERS!

Titus L. Snyder responding under Protocol 418

P.S. Keep this channel open for communication during the Conference.

---